The Ultimate Hills Escape

In the world of business, we often speak of "onboarding" and "deliverables." But at the heart of the Suryojasvi spirit, success is measured by the strength of our bonds. When Sachin Manan, CEO of Transmon, envisioned the Altice milestone, he didn't just see a professional win—he saw an opportunity to honor the people who made it possible.

Hills, Sun & Serenity

True leadership is reflected through integrity and the ability to celebrate the people who make success possible. Having promised his team a celebration of their hard work, Sachin took on a new role: the master architect of memories. From the logistics of five-star stays and travel to the thoughtful curation of personalized goodie bags and heartfelt awards, every detail was a testament to his gratitude.

WYZMINDZ TRANSMON TEAM RETREAT 2026

On February 20th, 22 Suryojasvis—a vibrant mix of colleagues, spouses, and children—embarked on a journey to the serene heights of Dharamshala. For four days, the crisp Himachal air was filled with more than just mist; it was filled with laughter. Whether we were finding our rhythm on the dance floor, testing our luck at Tambola, or seeking a moment of peace at the Dalai Lama Temple, every experience brought us closer.

We trekked through the mountains and explored local markets, but the true highlight was the feeling of being one large, extended family. We returned on the 24th with our luggage a little heavier from shopping, but our hearts infinitely fuller from the memories created.

This journey was a beautiful reminder that when leaders keep their promises and teams celebrate success together, it strengthens not only the organization but also the bonds that make the journey meaningful.

Turn the page to step into the shoes of our team members as they share their personal highlights from this unforgettable journey.

Postcards from Himachal: Snapshots of Gratitude

What an incredible recharge our team offsite to Dharamshala turned out to be! Nestled in the serene Dhauladhar mountains, the fresh pine-scented air and breathtaking views of snow-capped peaks instantly melted away our daily grind. From the moment we arrived, the vibe was electric—think team hikes through misty trails, laughter echoing during impromptu bonfires, and those deep strategy sessions that felt more like brainstorming over chai than work.

Our days blended adventure with bonding: trekking to nearby monasteries for some quiet reflection, indulging in Himachali thalis packed with local flavors, and even a fun rope activity that pushed us out of our comfort zones (shoutout to the QA Connect crew for nailing it!). Evenings wrapped up with storytelling circles where we shared wins, challenges, and wild ideas for Altice USA's next big push in client services.

This offsite wasn't just a break—it reignited our passion and strengthened our bonds. Dharamshala reminded us why we love what we do: collaborating in such inspiring surroundings. Grateful to the team for making it magical—here's to crushing our goals back at base!

Postcards from Himachal: Snapshots of Gratitude

What an unforgettable and electrifying experience it was! From the moment we received the cutest goodie bags on the bus (yes, I instantly fell in love with the bag) to spending four luxurious days wrapped in warmth, hospitality, and care — everything felt thoughtfully curated.

The hotel, the food, the service, the stunning premises — every little detail reflected how deeply we were valued and cared for. It wasn't just a trip, it was an emotion.

From Playing games , trekking through the serene hills, visiting the iconic Dalai Lama Temple, to standing proudly at Flag Point — I soaked in every single moment.

And that last night surprise? Completely unexpected and incredibly special.

Receiving such a beautiful recognition truly meant more than I can express.

Grateful. Honored. Overwhelmed.

Proud to be a Surjojasvi!

Our recent offsite was a truly memorable experience that strengthened our team spirit and connection. Every moment of the trip was worthwhile, creating lasting memories and positive energy across the team.

A heartfelt thanks to Sachin Sir and Nidhi Ma'am for thoughtfully organizing such a wonderful event and bringing everyone together. The experience has motivated us even more to work towards our ambitious 50 CR target next year. Proud to be part of such a passionate and united team.

After a year of balancing work calls, deadlines, and motherhood with my two little girls, this 3-day offsite in Dharamsala feels truly special.

Sometimes all we need is a small pause to breathe, reflect, and recharge.

Grateful for a workplace that values the people behind the work.

– Pratima Prasad

The Dharamshala trip was one of the most memorable experiences for me.

Surrounded by peaceful mountains and great company, every moment felt special. I clicked 1000+ photos of the team – especially of two teammates (sorry to them!) while I only have 7–8 photos of myself.

The highlight for me was the early morning trek, when I saw the beautiful snow-covered mountains right in front of us.

As always, when everyone came together, it felt more like family than a company trip.

– Rohit Meena

Postcards from Himachal: Snapshots of Gratitude

I am writing to express a thank you for the incredible Dharamshala offsite. It was more than just a trip; it was a powerful reminder of why I love being part of Transmon.

Sachin Sir, a special thank you for being a man of your word. You promised to take the leadership team on this journey, and you did it with such heart. The personalized messages and the words on the trophy were deeply moving—it's rare to feel that recognized and seen.

Nidhi, your planning was flawless. You turned a simple trip into a collection of lifelong memories. Thank you for making it so special.

The Highlights:

- The pure luxury of the Hyatt and the incredible food.
- That 4-hour morning walk—a truly soul-stirring experience that I'll never forget.

We've returned with more than just photos; we've come back with a unbreakable bond. This offsite has solidified our work ethics and steeled our resolve to smash our revenue targets. I'm already looking forward to what we will accomplish together before the next one!

– Indresh

Postcards from Himachal: Snapshots of Gratitude

When the Dharamshala offsite was planned, I'll admit I was a little skeptical about going. I didn't realize then that this trip would end up changing my game in the best possible way.

Amid the serene mountains, refreshing treks, great food, music, and endless laughter, I got the chance to connect with colleagues on a deeper level and gain a completely new perspective. Meeting people I had only interacted with through screens was another wonderful experience and now we truly know each other much better.

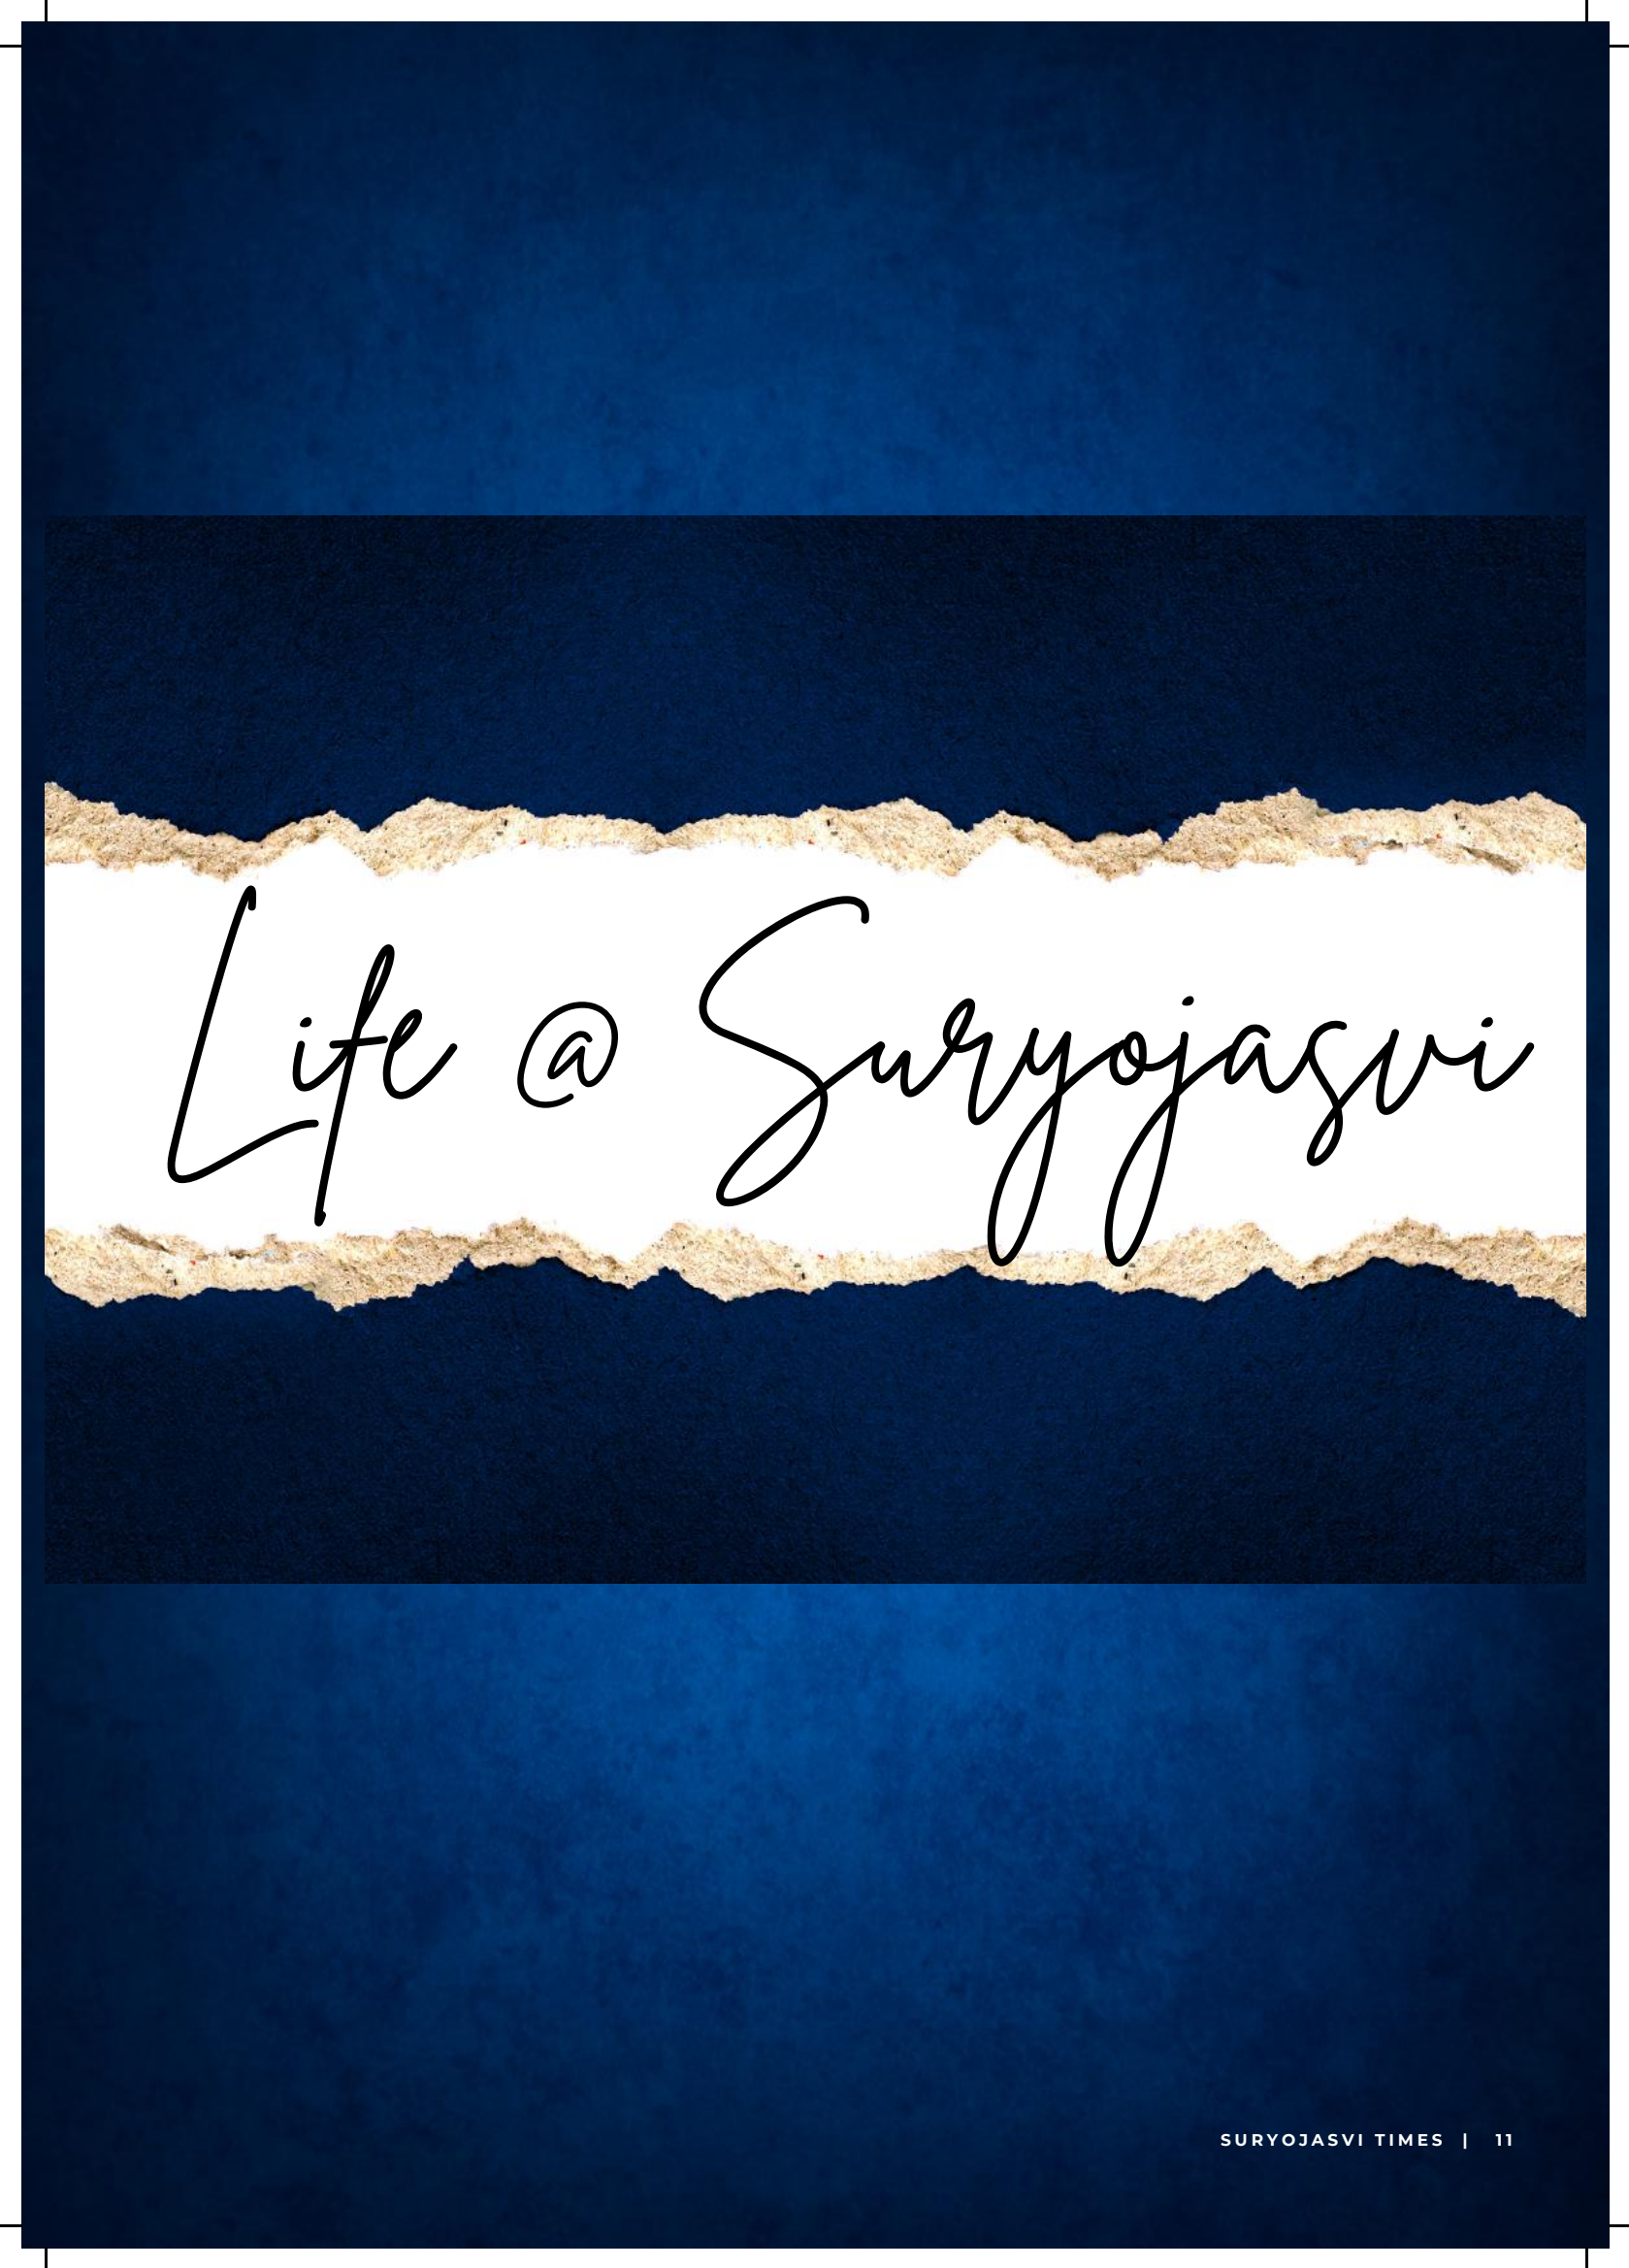

I had some really fun moments with Meena, Jeevan Sir, and Sangeeta Ma'am. One memory that will stay with me is that small stop at a coffee shop... with the rain pouring outside, a spontaneous photo session, and the most beautiful view around us. It turned out to be one of the most peaceful and memorable moments of the trip.

More importantly, the conversations and interactions during the trip pushed me to look beyond my comfort zone and explore my own capabilities. Sometimes all you need is that little nudge from the right people to see your potential more clearly.

I came back feeling energized, more confident, and truly grateful that I chose to be a part of this experience.

A heartfelt thank you to TransMon for organizing such a memorable offsite. It wasn't just a trip...it was a reset, a recharge, and a reminder of how powerful shared experiences can be.

A Clearer View of Time, Tasks, and Decisions

We are delighted to share the launch of the Calendar component in Syntheta—a thoughtfully designed feature that brings structure, visibility, and foresight to all date-driven activities on the platform.

Pooja Deshmukh

At its core, the Calendar component offers a unified and intuitive view of date-dependent data, enabling teams to plan ahead with confidence. By presenting timelines clearly and cohesively, it supports better organisation, sharper decision-making, and stronger coordination across functions.

One of its key strengths lies in Purchase Order creation, where managers can now easily visualise upcoming requirements, understand critical timelines, and make informed decisions about vendor prioritisation. This forward-looking visibility helps teams stay prepared rather than reactive.

The Calendar also plays a vital role in Task Management. Teams can track daily updates, monitor progress using defined start and end dates, and clearly see ownership and responsibility. This clarity not only improves accountability but also ensures timelines are respected and execution stays on track.

Overall, the Calendar component significantly enhances planning and operational efficiency across Syntheta—turning time into a strategic advantage rather than a constraint.

This milestone reflects the thoughtful product thinking and execution by Pooja Deshmukh from the Technology & NPD team.

Congratulations, Pooja, on delivering a feature that combines usability with real business impact. It's contributions like these that continue to strengthen the platform and elevate how teams work every day.

From Insight to Impact: Proactive Thinking in Action

Strong organisations are built not only on processes, but on people who observe, question, and improve them. A recent example of this proactive mindset comes from Shailesh and Siddharth, who—despite being less than six months into the system—have already demonstrated exceptional ownership through meaningful process improvement suggestions.

Strengthening Fraud Prevention

Shailesh and Siddharth identified a growing concern where customers were sharing AI-generated product images to claim refunds. This created potential revenue leakage and operational strain.

Rather than simply flagging the issue, they proposed a practical and preventive solution: enabling gallery and live camera uploads to verify image authenticity. This recommendation adds an additional layer of validation, helping protect revenue while maintaining fairness in the refund process.

The client acknowledged the insight and has shared it further for implementation—an encouraging validation of their forward-thinking approach.

From Insight to Impact: Proactive Thinking in Action

Enhancing Customer Experience

Shailesh conducted a focused study on customer cancellations. He observed that some orders were being cancelled without customers being fully aware, leaving advisors with no option but to apologise and manage escalations.

To address this gap, Shailesh suggested introducing a Re-ship / Re-order option within the process. This enhancement would not only reduce escalations but also empower customers with greater control—ultimately improving satisfaction and overall experience.

This suggestion too was acknowledged by the client and forwarded to the product team for further action.

These cases reflect more than good observations—they demonstrate initiative, analytical thinking, and a strong sense of responsibility toward both client and customer outcomes.

Well done, Shailesh and Siddharth, for turning insights into impact so early in your journey. Contributions like these strengthen systems, protect value, and elevate customer experience.

Automation in Action: Turning Reviews into Insights

We are pleased to congratulate Akash (from Pratima's team) and Yashwant (from Bhargavi's team) on successfully automating the extraction of Google Play Store reviews for any application available on the platform.

This initiative reflects proactive thinking and a strong focus on efficiency. By eliminating the need for manual extraction, the solution significantly reduces effort while ensuring faster and more reliable access to user feedback.

Beyond saving time, this automation enables scalable review analysis and supports smarter, data-driven decision-making based on real customer insights.

Excellent work, Akash and Yashwant – this is the kind of momentum that drives meaningful progress.

A Step Forward in Client Empowerment

Rehnuma Khan

Let’s take a moment to appreciate the excellent work Rahnuma has delivered on the User Management Dashboard feature for the Nepal client in Opsguru.

This enhancement empowers clients to activate and deactivate users independently, a thoughtful and practical feature that significantly improves client autonomy while reducing dependency on the internal team. The implementation is clean, intuitive, and closely aligned with real client needs, reflecting both technical excellence and a deep understanding of the user experience.

Rahnuma’s ability to understand the requirement and translate it into a meaningful, value-driven solution truly stands out.

Great work, Rahnuma! Your ownership and solution-oriented thinking are inspiring and reflect the spirit of continuous innovation at Suryojasvi.

Strengthening Our Digital Voice

Over the past few months, our social media presence has become an important window into who we are and what we are building as an organization.

During this time, Riya has taken full ownership of managing our LinkedIn pages, ensuring consistent and clear communication that reflects us as a technology-driven organization.

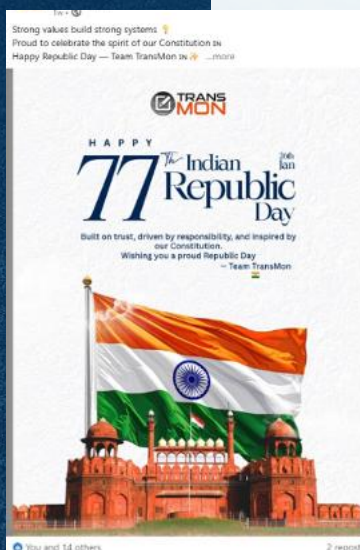

She initially managed the pages of TransMon and Vijay, and has recently taken on the responsibility of the Wyzmindz Solutions Pvt. Ltd. page as well—an important step as LinkedIn is often the first touchpoint for clients, partners, and future team members.

We would like to appreciate Riya's ownership and consistent effort in strengthening our digital presence.

Riya

We also encourage all Suryojasvis to follow our company pages and reshare posts whenever possible. Even a small action from each of us can help build a stronger digital presence for the organization.

Client Appreciation Spotlight

We are pleased to share a client appreciation received for Bhaskar Bhatt (W2516) from Rohit Meena's team in TransMon.

The challenge arose due to the absence of ATA feedback and rebuttal logic for In-house to Partner audits, which was impacting audit closures and feedback visibility. While the External-to-In-house flow was already in place, this particular gap required prompt resolution.

Bhaskar quickly identified the issue, coordinated closely with the backend team, and ensured that all stakeholders remained aligned throughout the process. To avoid any delays, he proactively shared audit reports with the client and partner teams while the technical solution was being implemented.

Within a week, the required logic was successfully developed. Bhaskar then conducted a demo for both the In-house and Partner teams, validated the entire flow end-to-end, and ensured that the issue was resolved within the defined timeline.

Great work, Bhaskar! Your proactive approach and commitment to delivering solutions truly reflect the Suryojasvi spirit of ownership and excellence.

Subject: Re: Inhouse to Partner ATA rebuttal Logics

Hi Bhaskar,

As discussed, The issue is now closed, and I want to extend my thanks for the exceptional support you provided to the vendor team and us.

@Bhaskar Bhatt Your assistance was key to ensuring the audit and rebuttal closures went smoothly. Since the BGO sunset, the team had been struggling with a lack of ATA visibility, which hindered their ability to share feedback. Now that they have visibility for the ATA audits, they can keep the feedback loop active and effective.

Automation in Action: Improving Client Efficiency

Jeevan recently shared a case study highlighting an end-to-end automation implemented by Bhaskar Bhatt (W2516) for one of our key clients, PhonePe, using n8n.

The Challenge

During a weekly call, the client highlighted that critical data uploads were being handled manually after working hours. The process was repetitive, time-consuming, and increasingly unsustainable.

The Solution

After carefully reviewing the workflow, Bhaskar designed an automated solution using n8n. The workflow fetches raw data from Google Sheets, cleans and prepares it, maps it with reference data to resolve agent-partner mismatches, and applies defined business rules. The final consolidated dataset is then automatically shared with stakeholders via email.

The Impact

Within just a few days, the entire process was automated. The client no longer needs to work beyond regular hours, reporting has become timely and reliable, and operational efficiency has improved significantly.

To add, this automation has saved nearly 40 minutes everyday (that I used to spend outside working hours). I'd like to take a moment to thank Bhaskar for his support.

Step	Before Automation	After Automation	Time Taken to perform this step	Impact
1	Download Raw dump from Salesforce	Download Raw dump from Salesforce	NA	Additional 40 minutes were spent outside of working hours to perform the steps, which have now been automated
2	Segregate between KYC 2.0 and KYC 1.0	Segregate between KYC 2.0 and KYC 1.0	NA

A trusted name in the manufacturing of interconnection systems, Trasccon plays a critical role in supporting sectors where reliability and precision are paramount—particularly aerospace and defence. The expansion to Hyderabad reflects the organisation's continued commitment to building strong, globally aligned manufacturing capabilities that meet the demanding standards of these industries.

Hyderabad, with its rapidly growing aerospace and defence ecosystem, offers a strategic location that aligns well with Trasccon's vision of expanding its reach while staying close to key industry partners and opportunities.

Growing with Technology and People at Suryo Jasvi: A 13-Year Journey

Where the Journey Began

I joined Wyzmindz Solutions Pvt Ltd in 2013 as a Software Engineer working on VB6 and SQL databases. At that time, the organization was still in its early stages, and much of the work revolved around building systems to support operations such as warehouse management and enterprise processes.

Early Learning and First Projects

In the early days, I started working on projects related to Warehouse Management Systems (WMS) and an ERP platform called TIPS. Those first few years were filled with learning. I spent a lot of time improving my coding skills, understanding programming logic, and exploring new technologies.

At the same time, I also began to understand how businesses actually operate — how processes work inside companies, how data flows, and how software can improve efficiency. One interesting realization during those years was understanding the power of simple tools like Excel. Even a simple tool can become very powerful when used correctly to understand business data and operational insights.

Coming from a manufacturing background and transitioning into software development itself was a learning journey that required curiosity, continuous effort, and adaptability.

Building Key Technology Platforms

One of the major phases of my journey was working on the Transmon platform, where implementing the sampling logic required careful design and a deep understanding of business processes. Building the Dynamic Form Builder within the platform was another technically challenging but very rewarding experience.

Much of this work was done with valuable guidance from the directors, whose understanding of business processes helped shape the direction of these platforms.

Another important platform during this journey was Opsguru, which was developed as a Business Intelligence (BI) tool. It involved implementing structured dynamic JavaScript with features such as drill-down and drill-through analytics. At that time, designing such interactive analytical capabilities was both challenging and exciting. Even today, Opsguru continues to be used by several clients.

Over time, some of these platforms evolved further. Syntheta was developed as the next generation upgrade of Opsguru, and GetaPCS became the upgraded platform built on the foundation of the earlier TIPS ERP system.

There were also several interesting technical explorations during these years, including implementing decision tree logic for analytical workflows. These experiences continuously pushed me to think deeper about how software systems can solve complex business requirements.

Memorable Moments Along the Way

Along with the technical journey, there were several moments that made these years truly special.

One such moment was a trip to the Vodafone office in Pune, which also happened to be my first flight journey. I traveled with Mahi Sir and Chetan Sir, and later Naveen Sir joined us in Pune. That experience remains one of the special milestones in my professional journey.

Another memorable experience was visiting our Noida office for about two weeks. Meeting Sachin Sir and his team and experiencing the energy and warmth of the team was truly special. The way everyone welcomed and took care of me made it a joyful and memorable experience.

Growing with Responsibility

Over the years, my responsibilities gradually increased. My journey moved through several roles – Developer, Team Lead, Manager, and eventually into leading the technology function.

Today, I serve as Head of Technology for the Suryojasvi Group, focusing on building and evolving technology platforms that support the organization's products and operations.

Platforms that Shaped the Journey

During these 13 years, I had the opportunity to contribute to several important platforms that were developed and evolved over time, including:

- WMS
- TIPS
- Transmon
- Opsguru
- Autosherpa
- Syntheta
- Advaita
- GetaPCS
- Advaita Workspace

Many of these platforms later became important systems used by clients and internal teams, contributing to the organization's growth over the years.

While I had the opportunity to contribute to these systems, many of these achievements were possible only because of the dedicated teams who worked together across development, operations, and customer support. These platforms were built through the collective effort of colleagues who contributed at different stages of the journey.

Mentors Who Shaped the Journey

I have been fortunate to receive guidance from many mentors during this journey. For more than ten years, I reported to Mahi Sir, from whom I learned valuable lessons about critical thinking, logical problem solving, handling challenging situations, and understanding customer needs. Over the past three years, I have also had the opportunity to work closely with Chetan sir, whose focus on systems, processes, and organizational growth continues to provide valuable direction for the technology journey ahead.

I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the directors who have supported and guided me over the years — Mahi Sir, Chetan Sir, Vishi Sir, Surendar Singh Sir, Sachin Sir, and Naveen Sir.

I should also mention someone very important in my journey — Manmohan, who has been a true friend and like a brother throughout these years. Having supportive friends like him makes the journey much more meaningful.

Looking Ahead

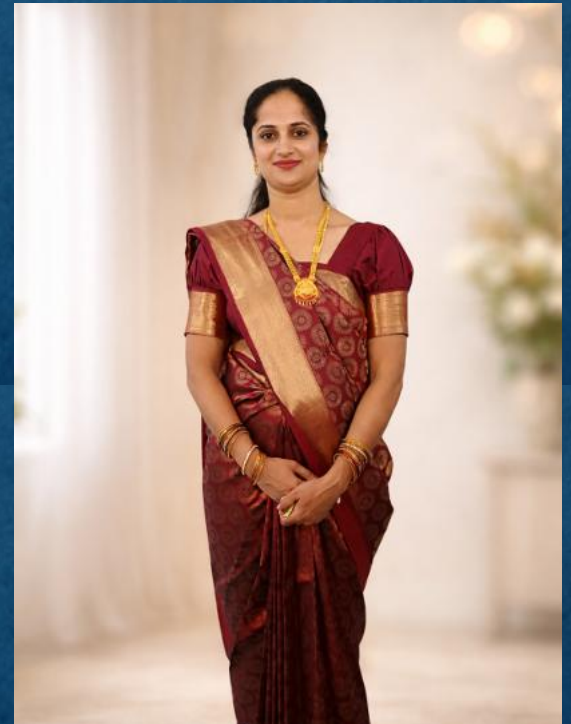

Today, technology has become one of the most critical pillars of our organization. While the company was earlier more service-oriented, many of our business operations now depend heavily on the software platforms we build. My current focus is on preparing our technology platforms for the future, particularly with the integration of AI-driven capabilities. Recently we introduced a new platform called Advaita Workspace, which is designed with AI-powered workflows in mind and aims to support the next phase of innovation within the organization.

Reflections on the Journey

Looking back at these 13 years, the journey has been joyful, challenging, and deeply rewarding. It helped me gain confidence, expand my technical knowledge, and grow into larger responsibilities.

At the same time, it reminds me that learning never stops, especially in the technology field. One of the things I value most about working here is the culture within the Suryo Jasvi Group. The leadership is approachable, new ideas are welcomed, and talent is recognized. The environment is supportive and collaborative, which creates a positive place to grow professionally.

I feel grateful to have grown along with the Suryo Jasvi Group and look forward to contributing to the next phase of innovation and technology development as we continue shaping the future together.

“Growing Together: - My 10-Year Journey with the Company”

I still remember my first day at the company as if it happened yesterday. Walking into a new workplace always brings a mix of excitement and nervousness. I was eager to begin a new chapter in my life, but at the same time I wondered what the journey ahead would look like. Little did I know that the decision to join this organization would turn into one of the most meaningful and fulfilling journeys of my life.

When I first joined, everything was new to me, the people, the processes, and the responsibilities. Like every new employee, I had many questions and a strong desire to learn. What made the experience special from the very beginning was the warm welcome and support I received from my colleagues and team members. Their encouragement helped me settle in quickly and gave me the confidence to take on my responsibilities.

As the days turned into months and months into years, the company slowly became more than just a workplace for me. It became a place where I could learn, grow, and build meaningful relationships. Every year brought new experiences and lessons that helped me develop both professionally and personally.

Over the past ten years, I have seen many changes and milestones within the organization. Watching the company grow and evolve has been an inspiring experience. Being a small part of that growth gives me immense pride and satisfaction.

It reminds me that every individual contribution, no matter how small it may seem, plays a role in building the success of the organization.

One of the most valuable aspects of my journey here has been the people I have worked with. I have had the opportunity to collaborate with supportive managers and wonderful colleagues who have always been willing to guide, encourage, and stand by each other. Their cooperation and positive attitude have created a work environment that makes coming to work every day a pleasant experience.

"Every challenge was a lesson; every milestone was a transformation."

There have been moments of challenges as well. Like long working hours, those are the times where work demands and require patience and determination. However, these challenges only made the journey more meaningful because they taught me resilience, problem-solving, and the importance of teamwork. With the support of my team and the guidance of my managers, I was able to overcome those challenges and grow stronger with every experience.

For me, this company has always felt like a second home. It is a place where I have not only performed my duties but also created many memories and friendships that I will always cherish. The culture of trust, respect, and teamwork within the organization has always inspired me to give my best and remain committed to my work.

Looking back today, completing ten years with the company fills me with gratitude and pride. It is not just a milestone in terms of years, but a reflection of the journey, the experiences, and the relationships built along the way.

I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the management for believing in me and giving me the opportunity to be part of this wonderful organization. Their trust and support have played a significant role in motivating me to continue performing my responsibilities with dedication.

I am also deeply thankful to my colleagues and team members who have been part of my everyday work life. Their cooperation, encouragement, and friendship have made this journey enjoyable and meaningful.

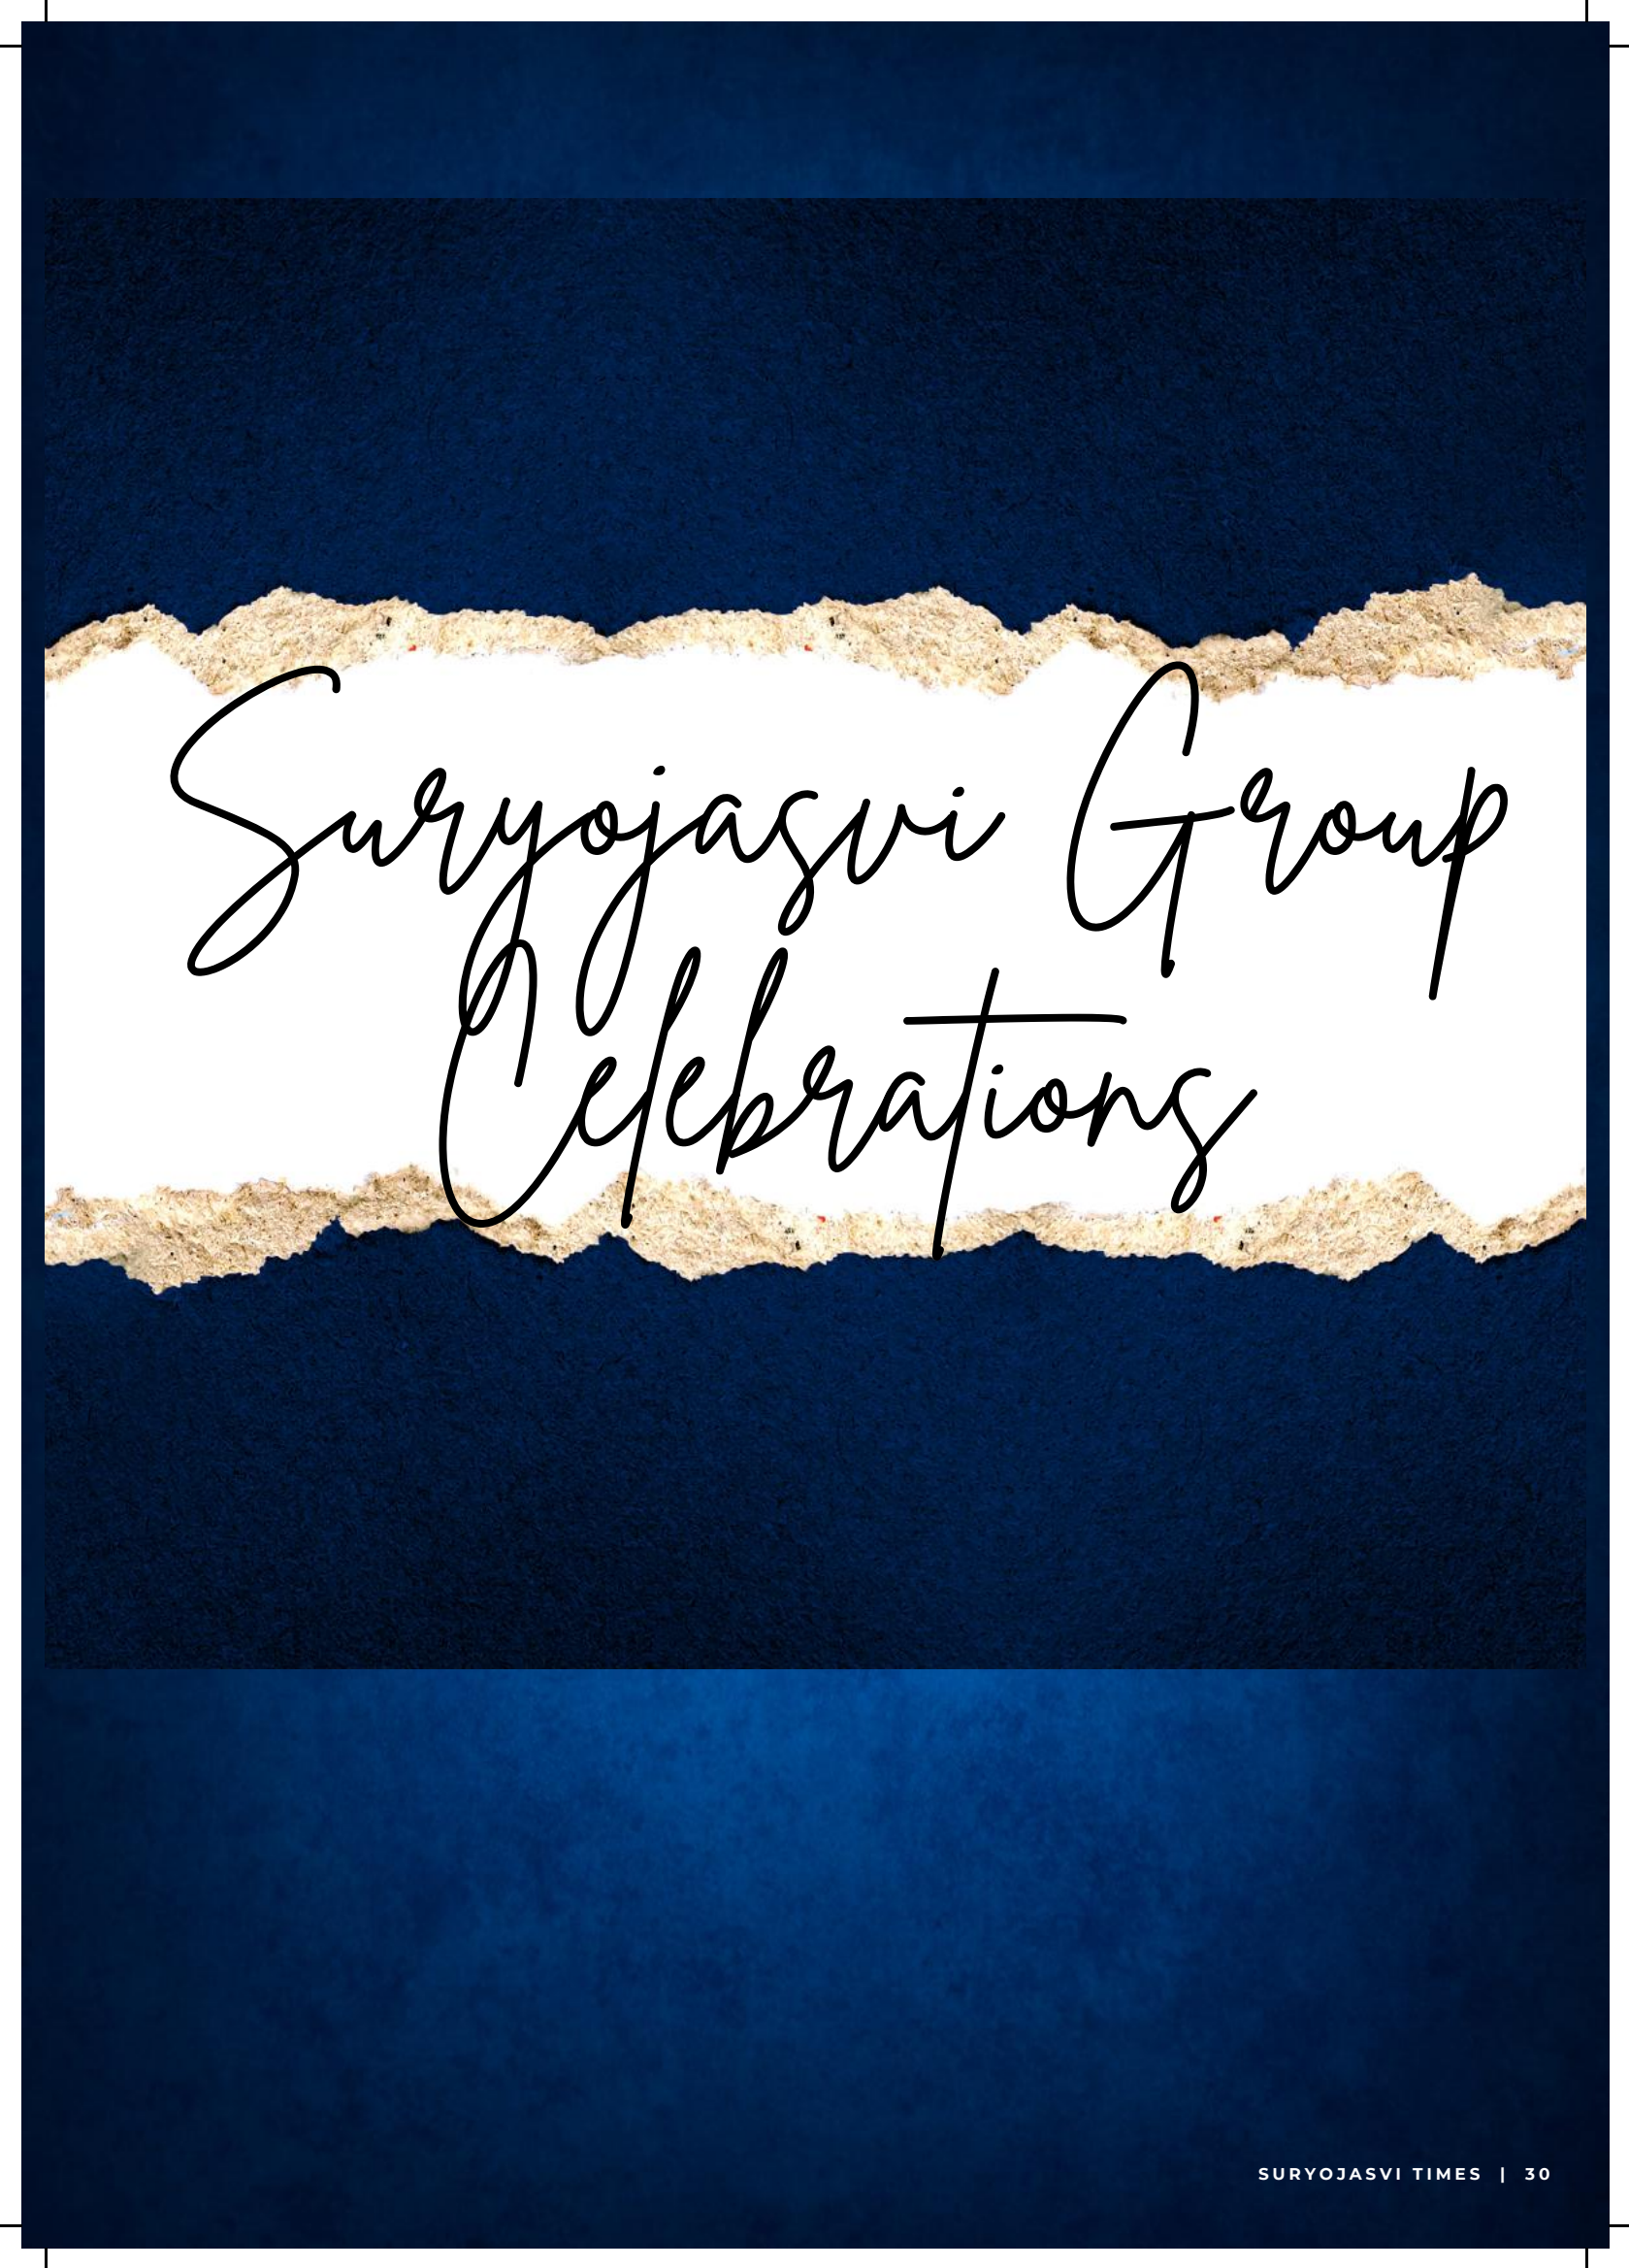

As I celebrate this milestone of ten years, I feel grateful for everything that this organization has given me, the opportunities, the learning, the support, and the sense of belonging. These experiences have shaped me into the professional and person I am today.

The past decade has been a beautiful journey, and I look forward to many more years of learning, contributing, and growing along with this organization. With the same commitment and enthusiasm, I hope to continue being a part of the company's success story in the years to come.

"I am grateful for the journey so far and excited for the many milestones yet to come".

NEW FACES, NEW ENERGIES AT SURYOJASVI

There is a special kind of magic in new beginnings. It's the spark of fresh ideas, the warmth of new friendships, and the shared excitement of a common goal.

Birthdays offer a beautiful moment to pause, appreciate, and celebrate the people who bring energy, warmth, and meaning to our workplace. During the month of February, we came together to celebrate our colleagues who marked another special milestone in their journey.

The celebrations were filled with smiles, heartfelt wishes, and joyful moments as teams gathered to make the day memorable for our birthday stars. Inspirational Story

A. P. J. Abdul Kalam – The Leader Who Built Success Through Unity

“- If you fail, never give up because F.A.I.L. means "first Attempt In Learning"

- End is not the end, if fact E.N.D. means "Effort Never Dies"

- If you get No as an answer, remember N.O. means "Next Opportunity".
So Let's be positive.

Few leaders embodied the spirit of unity and collective effort as deeply as Dr. A. P. J. Abdul Kalam. Known as the “Missile Man of India,” he played a pivotal role in shaping India’s aerospace and defence capabilities. Yet what truly set him apart was not just his scientific brilliance, but his unwavering belief that great achievements are always the result of teams working together with shared purpose.

Born in the small town of Rameswaram in Tamil Nadu, Kalam came from a humble background. As a young boy, he helped support his family by delivering newspapers before school. Despite financial challenges, his curiosity for science and learning never faded. With determination and hard work, he studied aerospace engineering and eventually joined India’s space and defence research programs.

One of the defining moments of his career came during his time at the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO). Kalam was part of the team working on India’s first Satellite Launch Vehicle (SLV-3). The project was complex and carried immense national expectations. In 1979, during an early launch attempt, the mission failed. Instead of blaming individuals, Kalam’s senior, Prof. Satish Dhawan, publicly took responsibility for the failure while allowing the team to learn from the experience.

A year later, in 1980, the SLV-3 successfully placed the Rohini satellite into orbit. This time, Prof. Dhawan asked Kalam to address the press and take credit for the success. The experience deeply influenced Kalam’s leadership philosophy: great leaders absorb failure but share success with their teams.

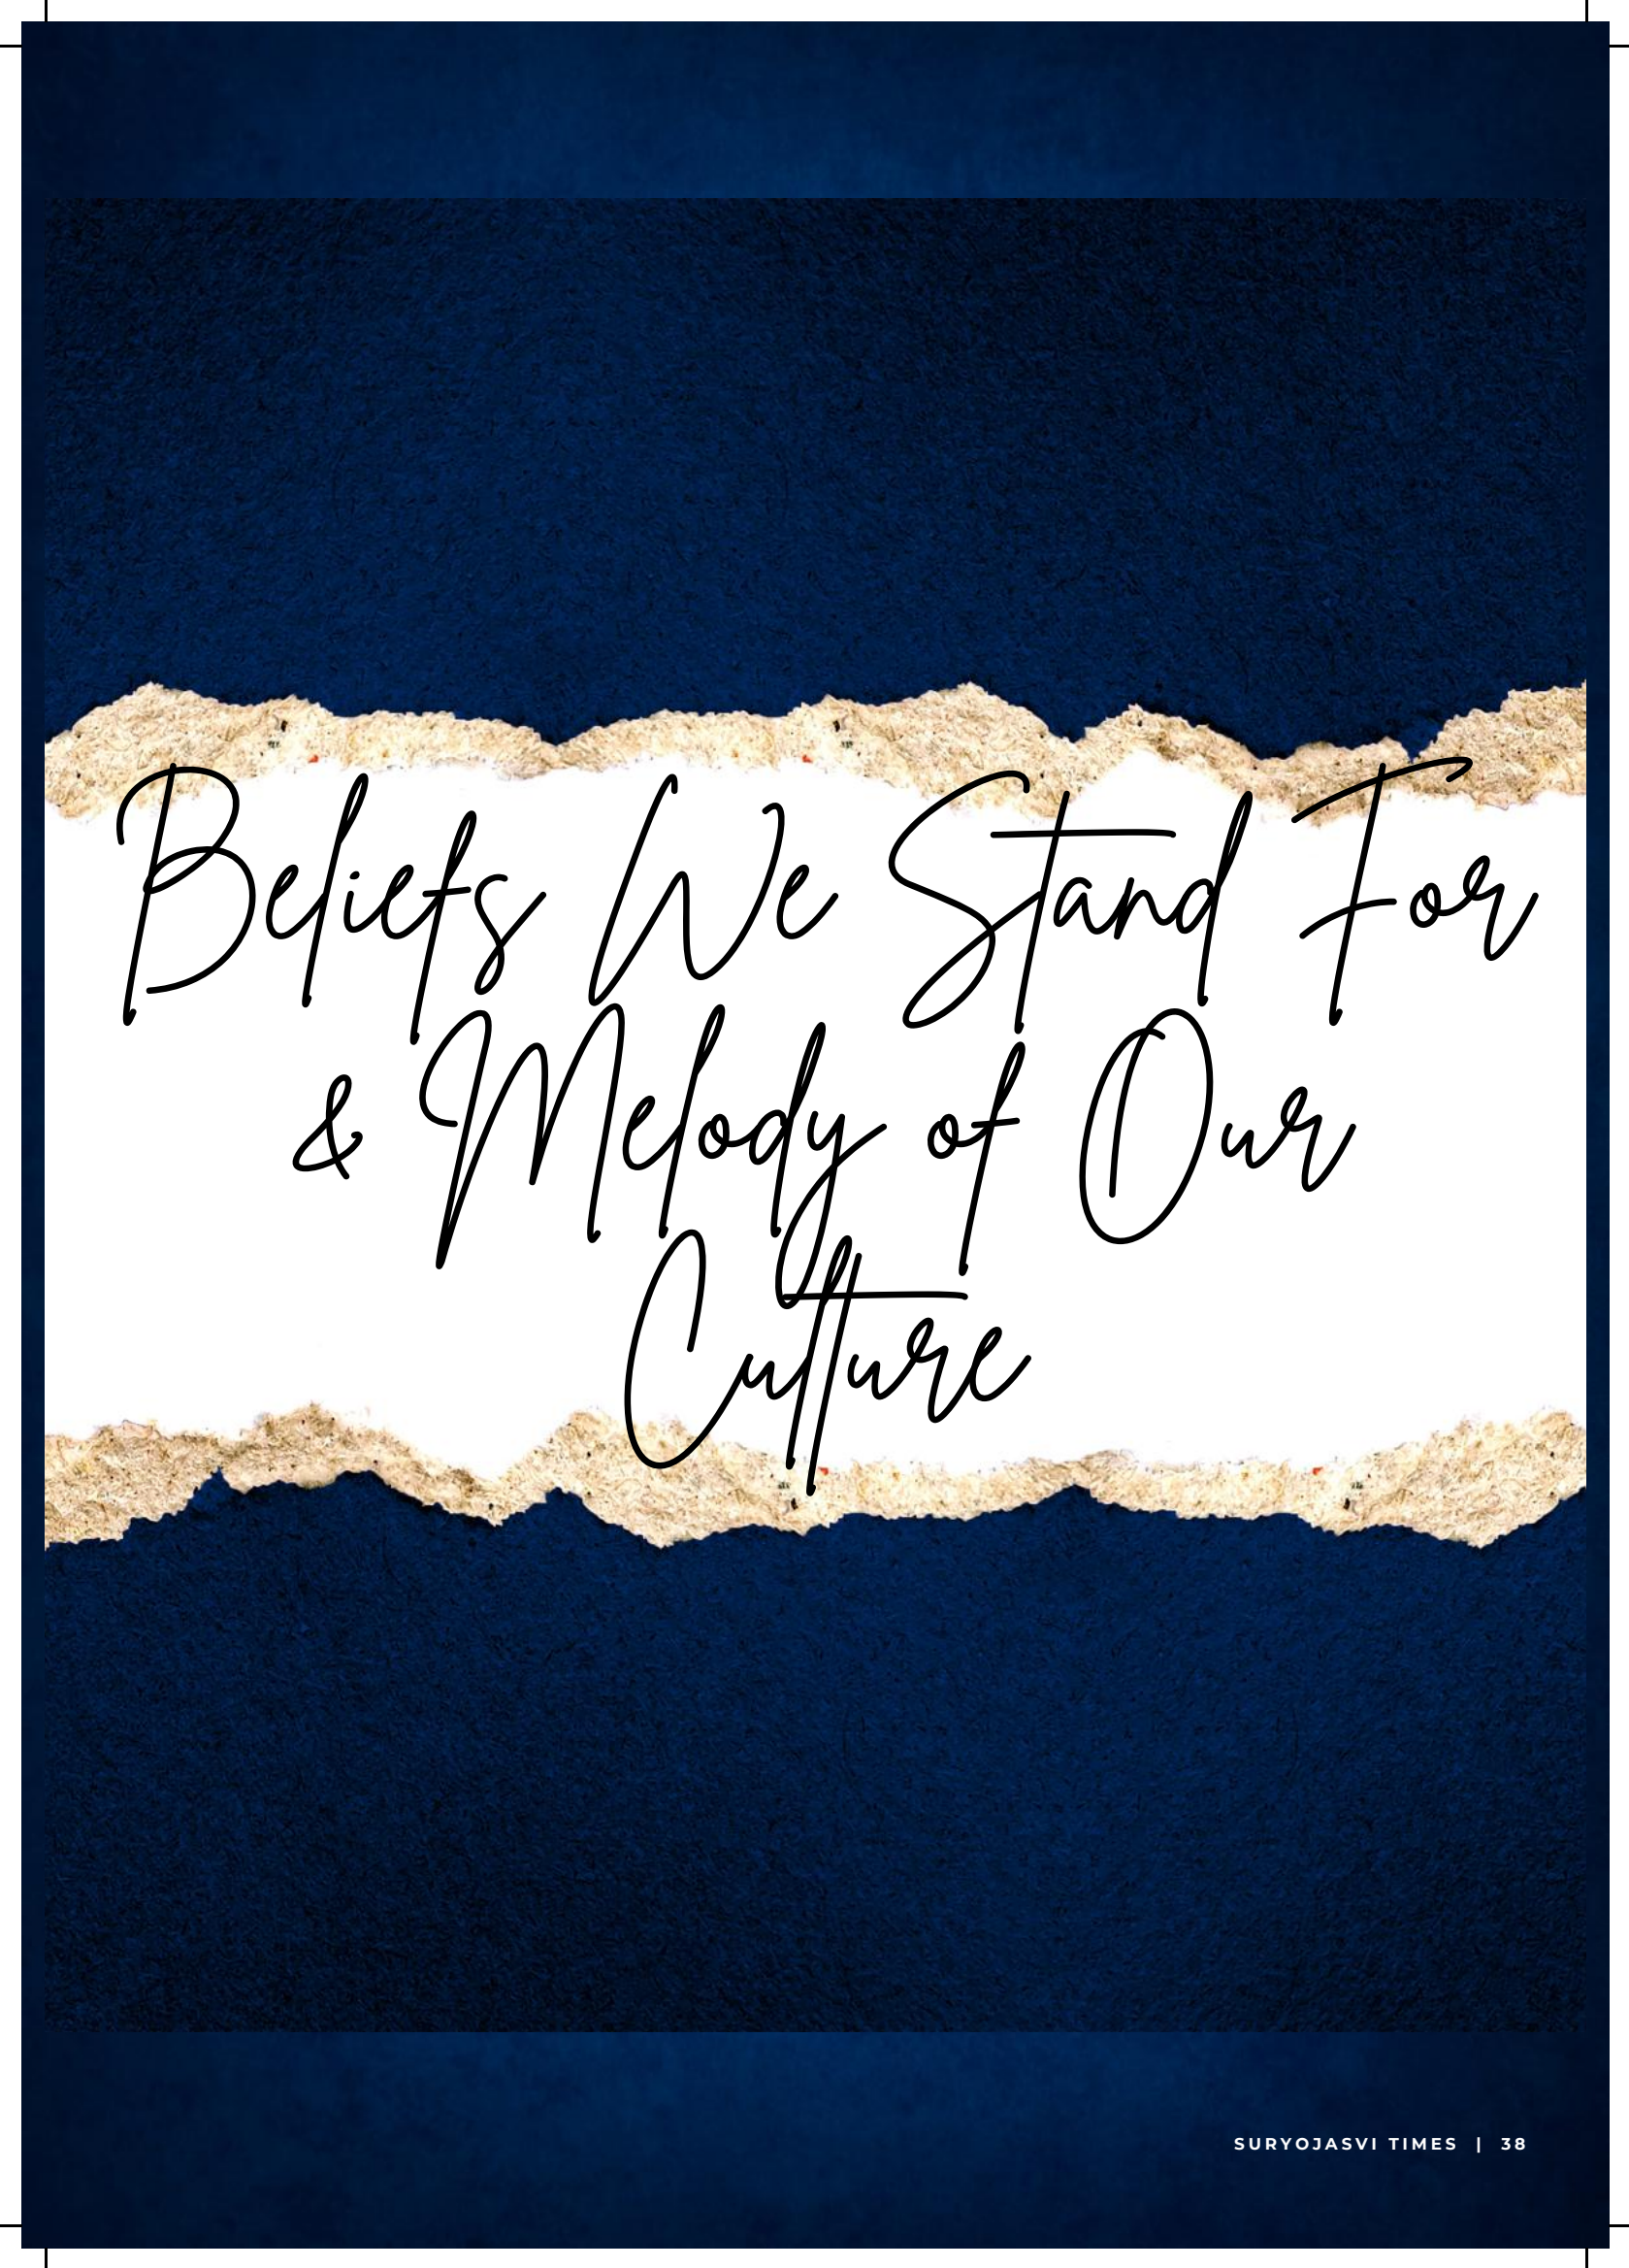

Throughout his career, Kalam continued to lead major programmes such as the Integrated Guided Missile Development Programme, which strengthened India’s defence capabilities. Yet he always emphasised collaboration—bringing together scientists, engineers, technicians, and policymakers toward a single national vision.

When he later became the 11th President of India, he remained a leader who united people across generations and professions. He spoke passionately to students, encouraging them to dream big and work together to build a stronger nation.

Dr. Kalam’s life reminds us that innovation and progress are never the work of individuals alone. They are the result of shared effort, trust, and unity of purpose. His journey—from a small coastal town to the highest office in the country—stands as a powerful example of how humility, teamwork, and vision can inspire an entire nation.

“ If you want to shine like a sun, first burn like a sun. ”

Beliefs We Stand For & Melody of Our Culture

CRYSTAL CLEAR IDENTITY, DAILY REMEMBERED

Every organisation has rituals, but at Suryo Jasvi, we have something deeper—a daily moment that reconnects us to our identity, our purpose, and our shared destiny.

Every day at 11:00 AM, across all our companies, one powerful practice unites us:

- We play the Suryo Jasvi Song.
- We recite the Suryo Jasvi Mahavakyas.

These are not just words or melodies. They are the soul of who we are, the codes we live by, and the values that shape us.

In a world full of noise, speed, and constant change, this daily ritual becomes a pause—

- a moment to return to our center
- to remember what we stand for
- to realign with the brilliance we are committed to becoming.

The Suryo Jasvi Song reminds us of our spirit of our joy, our unity, our courage, and our commitment to be increasingly useful, grateful, and joyful.

It binds us together as one family with one purpose.

The Suryo Jasvi Mahavakyas remind us of our promises—to learn, to serve, to solve, to create, and to become the light that elevates industries and the world around us.

Through these daily practices, we reaffirm:

- We are Suryo Jasvis.
- We are devoted to brilliance.
- We rise with purpose.
- We walk together.

And we build, every day, a world-class organisation guided by intention, humility, and service.

This ritual is more than a habit. it is our gratitude in action—gratitude for our journey, our people, our purpose, and for the chance to grow and evolve together.

A world-class organisation begins with world-class intention—reminded every day.
