Editor, Suryojasvi Times

January invites us to pause—not to slow down, but to set intent. It reminds us that real progress is built through small, thoughtful actions carried out with consistency and care.

This edition of Suryojasvi Times reflects that spirit. Within these pages, you'll find stories of innovation that removes friction, people who persist quietly through challenges, partnerships strengthened by empathy, and individuals whose ownership raises the bar for all of us.

Together, these moments remind us that brilliance is not loud—it is lived, every day, through how we think, act, and support one another.

As we step into the year ahead, may we continue to stay curious, grounded, and devoted to creating meaningful impact—together.

A New Year Begins Quietly—Until You Decide Who You Will Be.

Every year arrives with the same calendar. But not every year is lived with the same intention.

This year, let us choose awareness over autopilot, ownership over obligation, and empathy over efficiency alone. Let us build not just systems and solutions—but belief, trust, and momentum.

Because when intent is clear, progress follows naturally.

Welcome to a year of conscious growth.

Appo Deepo Bhava — Be the Light. Spread the Light.

At the LTF Udaan Meet, One Theme Stood Tall — Compliance-Led Growth.

L&T Finance, among India's leading non-banking financial companies, convened its annual partner meet in Hanoi, Vietnam, from 22–25 January 2026, bringing together key stakeholders for strategic dialogue and collaboration.

Representing Suryojasvi Group at the event was our CEO, Sachin Manan, at the annual meet aptly titled “Udaan” by L&T Finance.

WyzMindz, part of the Suryojasvi Group, received the prestigious Platinum Award in recognition of its role as the leading compliance monitoring partner, enabling L&T Finance to keep 637 collection agencies aligned with RBI regulatory standards.

L&T Finance leaders—including the CEO, Two-Wheeler Collections, and the Strategy Head, Collections—delivered a powerful and consistent message centered on the theme of Compliance-Led Growth, reinforcing it as the foundation for sustainable scale and long-term success.

While presenting Platinum award to WyzMindz, L&T Finance TW Business head said, “We have always believed that compliance as a Growth Enabler, Not a Cost Center. We are happy that WyzMindz has helped us build compliance discipline especially at time when we are scaling at a rapid pace”

When Speed Meets Insight: Reimagining Audits on TransMon

On the TransMon platform, the audit journey has traditionally followed a familiar path: open the audit form, review the transaction, fill in the details, and submit.

But what if... you didn't have to open the form at all?

A Simple Question. A Powerful Shift.

Picture this:

You're a Quality Auditor staring at a bucket of 100 samples. On this project, experience has sharpened intuition so well that the transaction number alone tells you the outcome—compliant or non-compliant.

The ask was deceptively simple:

"Can I submit the audit directly—without opening the form?"

At first glance, it sounded improbable. Even counter-intuitive.

And yet, that's exactly where innovation often begins.

Turning 'Impossible' into Intuitive

Enter Gani, our TransMon expert, who took this challenge head-on—and made it real.

For our customer Medexpert, this capability is now live and transforming the audit experience:

Audits can be submitted without opening the form

Agent Name and Agent ID are selected at the time of submission

A fast, frictionless, no-distraction flow that respects the auditor's expertise

The result? Fewer clicks, less cognitive load, and dramatically improved throughput—without compromising accuracy.

Why This Matters for Medexpert

Medexpert operates in a high-precision environment, delivering revenue cycle management and technology solutions for the emergency medical services (EMS) industry. Their audit model is binary—0% or 100%—with a requirement to cover 100% of samples. Bulk audits aren't a "nice to have"; they're mission-critical.

This enhancement aligns perfectly with their reality—where speed, clarity, and scale matter more than form-filling rituals.

Collaboration That Closed the Loop

Great ideas need great execution—and even better coordination.

A big shout-out to Muheeb, who worked closely with the customer and our backend team, keeping everyone aligned, translating expectations into clarity, and documenting exactly what was delivered. That precision made all the difference in closing the requirement smoothly.

Special appreciation as well to Lohith, whose relentless efforts behind the scenes ensured the solution held up technically and operationally.

Innovation, the TransMon Way

What started as a bold "what if" is now a live, working capability—one that respects human judgment, removes friction, and redefines efficiency.

Great work, Gani, Lohith, and Muheeb.

Momentum in Motion: Welcoming New Projects

Growth often arrives quietly—until you pause and realise how far the journey has moved forward.

We are delighted to share that we have received new projects, marking an exciting phase of momentum for our teams and the organisation as a whole. Each new engagement is more than just an addition to our portfolio; it is a vote of confidence in our people, our capabilities, and the way we consistently deliver value.

- Tata Advanced System Pvt Ltd
- BHARATH ELECTRONICS LIMITED-GHAZIABAD
- ELBIT SYSTEMS C4I AND CYBER LTD
- BHARATH ELECTRONICS LIMITED-BANGALORE
- ARNIR COMMUNICATION LIMITED
- CENTUM ELECTRONICS LTD

Behind every new project lies the collective effort of multiple teams: those who nurtured relationships, those who translated needs into solutions, and those who stood ready to take ownership once the opportunity became real. This is growth powered not by chance, but by collaboration.

Key Account Spotlight: Excellence That Stands Out

Something truly encouraging is unfolding within our Key Accounts, and this time, it's a moment of pride worth celebrating.

We are delighted to share that team members Ms. Bhoomika and Mr. Gopal M from TRASCCON have won the Rhodium Award at the POLA-YOKA KAIZEN Competition, held online on 19th December 2025.

The competition saw 19 presentations delivered by 14 teams representing 14 different companies. In a field marked by strong ideas and rigorous problem-solving, the TRASCCON team distinguished itself through clarity of thought, structured improvement, and practical impact—earning the highest recognition among all participants.

This achievement is a testament to the team's commitment to continuous improvement and operational excellence, and it reflects the strong quality mindset being built within our key accounts.

Congratulations to Ms. Bhoomika and Mr. Gopal M on this well-deserved recognition. Your success not only brings pride to TRASCCON but also inspires many others to pursue excellence through Kaizen thinking.

Persistence to Reality: The Noida Hiring Hub

Some milestones are not just operational wins—they are stories of belief, grit, and quiet determination. The successful launch of the Hiring Hub at our Noida office is one such story, and at its heart lies the power of persistence.

The Power of Persistence

At a recent Insight meeting, Indresh shared a moment that resonated with many of us. Over the past three years, he made three determined attempts to establish a dedicated Candidate Hiring Hub. Each came with challenges—but instead of stepping back, he chose to persist. That quiet, unwavering resolve has now turned vision into reality.

Collaboration That Made It Possible

Behind this success is strong teamwork. A special thanks to Shravya from the Central HR Team, Bangalore, who played a pivotal role in enabling the transition. She trained Raj Lakshmi on the end-to-end hiring process, ensuring the Noida Hiring Hub was built for sustainable success from day one.

A Star Takes the Lead

As the hub took shape, Raj Lakshmi—one of our Process Excellence champions—stepped into her new role as Recruitment Specialist and has already made a remarkable impact:

- CEO Recognition: Led a critical recruitment campaign with exceptional speed, earning praise from CEO Sachin Manan.
- Operational Impact: Built a strong recruitment pipeline to address FTE leakages within WMC operations.
- Talent Acquisition Excellence: Shortlisted 10+ QA candidates in record time.

Her journey is proof that when preparation meets opportunity, excellence follows.

A Moment to Celebrate

This milestone is more than the launch of a Hiring Hub—it reflects perseverance, collaboration, and people stepping beyond comfort zones to create meaningful impact.

Let us celebrate Indresh for his vision and Raj Lakshmi for the ownership and momentum she brings to this new chapter. Together, they embody the spirit that continues to move our Noida office—and our organisation—forward.

When Empathy Becomes Action

We often say “it’s the little things that count”—but how often do we pause to truly practise it?

Following our recent KAM sessions, Indresh, QMC Lead, has been intentionally focusing on Empathy Walks and deeper stakeholder conversations. His purpose was simple yet powerful: to stop seeing accounts and start seeing the people behind them.

This shift came alive when Samar, Business Manager at Flipkart Quick Commerce, welcomed a baby girl. Beyond routine project updates, Indresh reached out personally—to check in, to share the joy, and to send a small gift for the newest member of Samar’s family.

The response was deeply moving. Samar was overwhelmed—not because of the gift, but because the gesture reflected something far more meaningful: a partnership rooted in genuine care, not just delivery metrics. It was a reminder that when we celebrate life’s milestones together, we move from being vendors to becoming trusted partners.

Sometimes, a thoughtful note, a warm message, or a five-minute call is all it takes to double someone’s happiness—and quietly strengthen the bonds that truly sustain long-term relationships. Because in the end, it really is the little things that make the biggest difference.

Congratulations to Samar on the arrival of his baby girl! Wishing the family endless joy, good health, and beautiful new beginnings. Moments like these remind us that strong partnerships are built not just on work, but on genuine care and connection. ——— ”

January Badge of Honor: Celebrating Those Who Inspire

The Badge of Honor is more than just a recognition—it is a celebration of individuals who consistently embody the values of the Suryojasvi Group and create meaningful impact beyond their defined roles. Their actions reflect a deep sense of responsibility, professionalism, and commitment that strengthens our culture every day.

For the month of January, we are proud to confer this honour upon:

- Ms. Pratima Prasad
- Mr. Somnath
- Mr. Ananda
- Mr. Ganesh
- Ms. Bhargavi Bandi

Each of these individuals has demonstrated exceptional ownership, dedication, and a quiet excellence that inspires those around them. Through their integrity, consistency, and intent, they remind us that true leadership is not always loud—it is often reflected in the reliability of actions and the positive influence they create within teams.

Their contributions go beyond outcomes; they help foster collaboration, elevate standards, and set a powerful example of what it means to lead by values.

Congratulations to our Badge of Honor awardees. Your dedication continues to raise the bar for excellence and move us forward as one strong, value-driven organisation.

Suryojasvi Birthdays: Moments of Happiness

January gave us many reasons to smile—and our birthday celebrations were definitely one of them!

As we stepped into the new year, we also took a moment to celebrate the wonderful people who add warmth, energy, and positivity to our workplace every single day.

To all our January birthday stars: thank you for the passion you bring, the ideas you spark, and the difference you make through your work. May this year bring you good health, happiness, exciting opportunities, and many moments worth celebrating.

Here's wishing you a year ahead filled with growth, success, and plenty of cake!

11 Years of Dedication and Progress

-By Rohit Meena

In 2016, I moved to the MIS team, where I developed strong expertise in Excel and gained exposure to automation tools such as QlikView, significantly enhancing my analytical and reporting skills. In 2018, I transitioned to TransMon, where I handled multiple processes including Flipkart, Indiabulls, and OYO, giving me valuable exposure to diverse clients and systems.

In 2019, I played an active role in deploying the Airtel process, one of the most challenging yet learning-rich phases of my career. During this period, I also faced personal family challenges, but the constant support and encouragement from Wyzmindz, Sachin Sir, and Rohit Sir helped me stay focused and motivated.

In 2022, I was promoted to Assistant Manager – Product Support, followed by a promotion to Deputy Manager in 2025. Currently, I lead a team and manage key banking and fintech clients such as Axis Bank and PhonePe.

When I joined, the organization had only 10–15 employees and a small office. I have personally witnessed its growth from days with just 2–3 people in the office to a thriving organization with 100+ employees, exactly as Sachin Sir had envisioned. Being part of this remarkable journey has been truly rewarding and motivating.

I joined the company on 19 January 2015 as a Data Analyst in the GETIT (AskMe.com) process, marking the beginning of my professional journey and my first job. In the initial phase, I handled calling activities and later transitioned into data analysis and data uploads, which helped me build a strong operational and analytical foundation.

Eleven Years of Innovation, Trust, and Transformation: My Journey at Suryojasvi

-By Manmohan

Eleven years ago, I walked into an interview that would redefine my professional life. What I expected to be a standard process turned into a deep, hour-long conversation with Preethi (HR Manager) and Lajpath (Manager). That day, I joined as a Quality Analyst for the ACT Fibernet account. Back then, we were a small, tight-knit team of 4. I've watched that team scale to 14, and my own role evolved from an analyst to a leader.

The Transmon Era: Building from the Ground Up

My career took a pivotal turn when I was entrusted with Transmon. Under the mentorship of Mahi Sir and the unwavering guidance of Sachin Sir, I stepped into the world of client deployment—a territory that was entirely new to me.

We started with Flipkart, beginning with just 250 licenses. Through relentless effort and the trust of my mentors, we scaled that to a staggering 12,000 licenses across 13 partners. This success opened doors to major accounts like Myntra, PhonePe, and Swiggy. One of my proudest achievements was leading the BBD (Big Billion Days) project with a 45-member team, achieving a 92% compliance rate—a benchmark no other third-party auditor had reached.

The Art of Persistence: The Meesho Milestone

My journey with Meesho was a masterclass in persistence, for a year, I navigated weekly follow-ups and communication blocks, even when my patience was tested by their Quality Manager, Irfan. I refused to give up, eventually turning that challenge into one of our flagship accounts through sheer grit and a relationship-first approach. For me, it was never just about sales—it was about building a foundation of trust so deep that clients became friends who welcomed me into their homes and vacations. This success was only possible because Suryojasvi empowers us to go above and beyond, proving that genuine partnerships outperform any sales tactic. Today, I carry that same spirit of tenacity into every new project and key account I lead.

Pioneering New Frontiers: The Launch of My CartEdge

My journey comes full circle as I lead the market research and deployment for My CartEdge, a specialized solution I curated for the Fashion and Jewelry industries. Drawing on years of expertise with giants like Kalyan Jewellers, I am now transforming my domain knowledge into a market-leading tool through innovation and testing. Supported by the trust of my directors, I am honored to spearhead this new chapter and deliver a cutting-edge product to the retail landscape.

Why I Stayed: A Culture of Empowerment

In 11 years, opportunities to leave were many. Clients often invited me to join them, but I chose to stay. Why? Because at Suryojasvi, I am not just "one in a thousand." I have the power to influence quality, the freedom to seek help from anyone, and the privilege of working in an environment free from internal issues.

A Legacy of Mentorship

My growth is a reflection of the leaders who backed me:

Mahi Sir: My first mentor who shaped my foundation and stood back for each and every milestone

Chetan Sir: Who, over the last three years, has helped me realize my true potential and accelerated my growth.

Sachin Sir: My backbone during the Transmon days, who stood by me through every "up" and "down."

Naveen Sir & Vishi Sir: For always listening, supporting, and valuing my input on company-wide changes.

Pramanayagam: More than a colleague—a "big brother" and mentor whose opinion I value in every decision and Vice versa.

Each Director has brought a unique strength to Suryojasvi. Now, it is our turn to take that legacy forward. Here's to 11 years of challenges, triumphs, and the exciting chapters yet to be written.

Martin Luther King Jr

A Life That Taught
the World to Dream

I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

Martin Luther King Jr. was not born into comfort or certainty. Born in 1929 in Atlanta, Georgia, he grew up in a world deeply divided by racial inequality. As a young boy, he experienced discrimination firsthand—friends he could no longer play with, schools he could not attend, doors quietly but firmly shut. These early encounters with injustice shaped his inner resolve long before they shaped his public voice.

Educated as a theologian and deeply influenced by the principles of non-violence taught by Mahatma Gandhi, King chose a path that was neither easy nor safe. He believed that injustice could be challenged without hatred, and that moral courage was stronger than brute force. His leadership during the Montgomery Bus Boycott, sparked by Rosa Parks' quiet act of defiance, marked the beginning of a movement that would change the course of American history.

Dr. King was arrested multiple times, threatened constantly, and ultimately paid the highest price for his beliefs. Yet, through fear, fatigue, and failure, he never lost sight of why he began—to create a society where dignity was not selective and opportunity was not inherited, but shared.

The Dream That Became a Beacon

On 28 August 1963, at the March on Washington, Martin Luther King Jr. delivered what would become one of the most powerful speeches ever spoken: "I Have a Dream." Standing before more than 250,000 people at the Lincoln Memorial, he did not speak of anger—he spoke of hope. He did not outline grievances—he painted a future.

His dream was simple yet radical: a world where people would be judged not by the colour of their skin, but by the content of their character; where children would inherit possibility instead of prejudice; where justice would flow freely and equality would no longer be delayed.

What made the dream unforgettable was not just the words—it was the courage to dream publicly in a time of despair. Dr. King showed the world that dreams, when spoken with conviction, can mobilise nations and awaken consciences.

Why This Matters to the Suryojasvi Group

At the Suryojasvi Group, Dr. King's life and dream hold a powerful lesson for us. Our aspirations—whether around innovation, technology, partnerships, or people—are rooted in the same belief: that progress begins with vision, but only becomes real through consistent action.

Like Dr. King, we operate in complex realities. Challenges exist. Constraints are real. Yet we choose to dream of organisations that are ethical, inclusive, impactful, and future-ready. We dream of growth that uplifts not just numbers, but lives. And we dream of partnerships built on trust, not transactions.

Martin Luther King Jr. reminds us that dreams are not soft ideas—they are bold commitments. When backed by courage, discipline, and collective effort, they become movements.

As we continue our journey, may we never stop dreaming—and may we always have the courage to act on those dreams.
